

More leaked exam papers

Written by dirkd
Thursday, 16 May 2013 12:58 -

In what seems to be becoming an annual event, exam papers were again leaked this semester.

According to an IOL news article, the affected subjects have been postponed until such time as new papers could be set for the subjects.

One would think that Unisa would have implemented extra security measures after last year's fiasco, but it seems the institution has scant regard for its own reputation.

Approximately 12 000 students have been affected by this latest blunder.